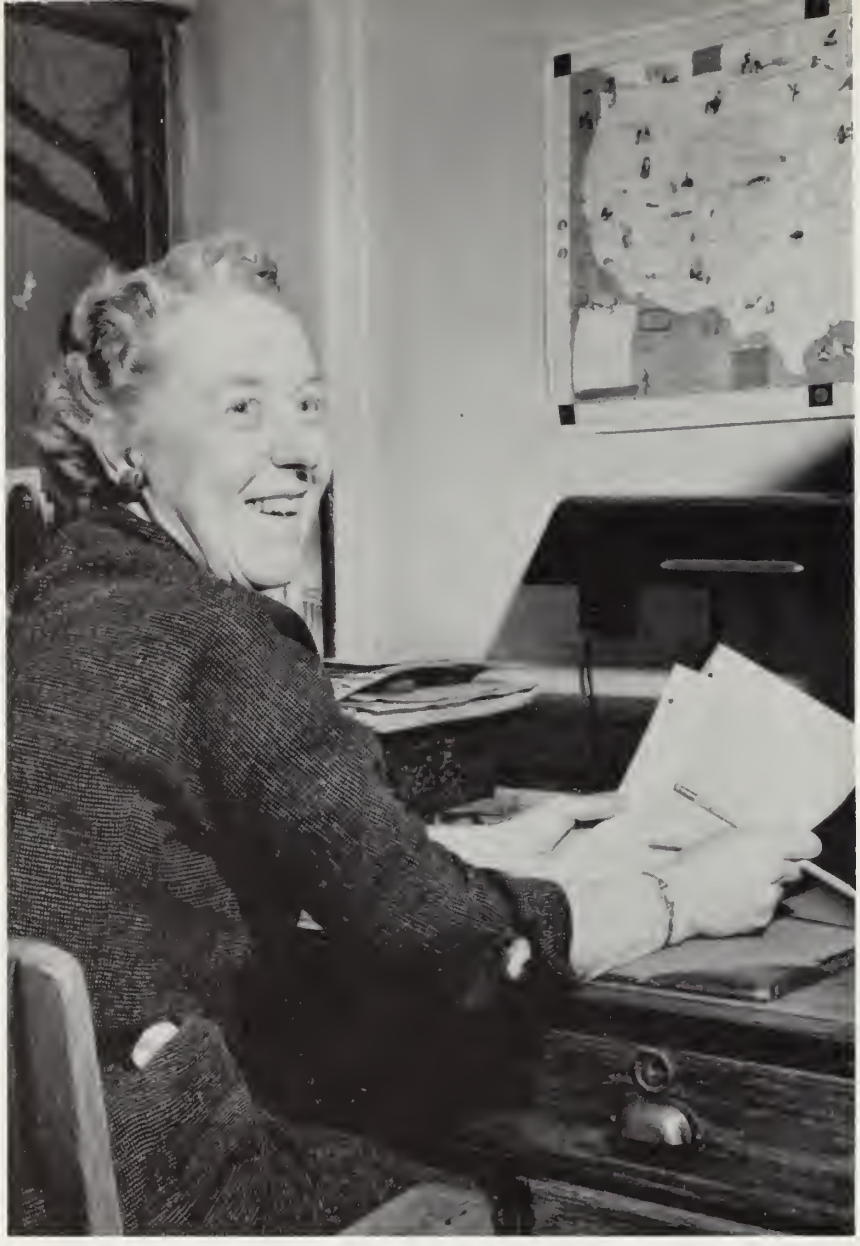
UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL

URBANA, ILLINOIS VOL. 39



MISS ELLA LEPPERT

To a truly dedicated teacher,
To an active citizen who has been an invaluable example,
To one whose concern for individuals enlivens our work,
To a teacher whose broad outlook has increased our tolerance of others,
To an understanding friend,

Miss Ella Leppert,
We dedicate this yearbook
The Class of 1959.

WILL

We of the class of 1959, being of sound mind and body leave. . .

To the Junior Class, the knowledge that without us the school cannot go on.
To the Sophomore Class, our refined manners and gentle ways.
To the Freshman Class, our indefatigable spirit, our untempered enthusiasm for work, and our unmodified faith in the ultimate worth of extracurricular activities.
To the Sub Class, our condolences for four years of fun and games with the college of Education.

I, Tony Carter, being of sound mind and body, having recovered from my last illness two months ago, bequeath my God-given ability for concise, precise, and succinct self-expression, often confused with verbosity, to Miss Leppert.
I, Barbara Cronbach, leave my brother Dick to the girls of Y.C.C.I.
I, Dick "Marlboro Man" Cronbach, leave my filter, flavor, flip-top box to Chris Vestling.
I, Clara Derber, leave my industry and efficiency to the physical plant.
I, Steve Doob, leave my knowledge of butterflies to the Bureau of Useless Information.
I, Ford Doolittle, leave my size thirteen tennis shoes to Janie Duberg.
I, John Duncan, leave my important position to anyone who's as sharp as I am.
I, Amar Fletcher, leave my long, lovely, lustrous locks to Dr. Jackson.
I, Marge Gaylord, leave my contact lenses to anyone who can fish them out.
I, Ev Heinrichs, leave my all-knowing philosophical judgements to the "sting-a-ling" boy, Bill Martin.
I, Mary Heller, leave my ability to reach high notes to Nick Peters.
I, Jim Hendrick, leave my dynamic leadership qualities to Eddie Lathrop.
I, Momoko Ito, leave my soft voice and gracious manner to Dickie Bourgin.
I, Julie Johnson, leave to impress my intellectual sensitivity on the groveling masses.
I, Tom Johnson, leave my concern for the Uni High curriculum to Mrs. Fletcher.
I, Jack Kelley, leave my multi-colored sweater collection to mouldy-collared Tom Bestor.
I, Mike Kirtley, leave the Uni High girls to the Sophomore boys. . . sort of stung the big boys up there!
I, Caroline Lanham, leave my athletic ability to John Burgett.
I, Susie Levin, leave my retiring personality to Valentina Radzimovsky.
I, Dave McLane, leave my aggressiveness to Mr. Grissom.
I, Joe Miles, leave in hopes that U. I. C. S. M. will follow in my footsteps.
I, Linda Newmark, leave my warmth and affection for the male sex to Candy Lennox.
I, Phil Norton, leave my healthy outlook on life to Ruperto Mendiones.
I, Tom Osborn, leave the Champaign High girls to Dave Trebilcock.
I, Banu Perk, leave my pianistic ability to Marilee Swanson.
I, Susanne Philippson, leave my occasional visits to the United States to John Foster Dulles.
I, Tom Read, leave my "5 point" to the poor unfortunates struggling for a "point 5".
I, Linda Roberts, leave my overbearing personality to April Smith.
I, John Scott, leave my concern for democratic principles to Gillian Leng.
I, Judy Shattuck, leave Susie Schnabel's statuesque proportions to Uncle Max Beberman.
I, Ann Shipley, leave my corner in the locker room to Judy Mann.
I, Bruce Shurts, leave my initials to anyone who wants them.
I, Terry Smith, leave my letter sweater to my fellow athletes.
I, Willard Spiegelman, leave to escape from Susie Levin who has been pursuing me since the Freshman Star Dance.
I, Nini Taub, leave Orchesis to Ruthie Wax.
I, Dave Trebilcock, give the Champaing High girls back to Tom Osborn, slightly used, with my kindest regards.
I, Marcia Tuckey, leave my sweetness, social poise, and savior faire to Jane Mutti.
I, Andy Von Foerster, leave my hair style to a porcupine.
I, Betty White, leave my French tapes to R. Chandler Knowles.
I, Shelby Williams, have already left -- mentally if not physically.
I, Bes Winakor, leave my attention to detail to Orville Hodge.
I, John Wood, leave with my dewy-eyed classmates to embark on the sea of life, ever aware of my increasing responsiblity to my community and my country.

PROPHECY

Tony Carter is President of the League of Women Voters.
Barbara Cronbach rises on the crest of barren life -- or would she so.
Dick Cronbach has enrolled in Mike Day's charm school.
Clara "Orville Hodge" Derber is attending college on funds embezzled from Finance Committee Reserve.
Steve Doob is catching butterflies on the Tour de France.
Ford Doolittle is painting murals on the Empire State Building.
John Duncan is King of the World.

Andy Von Foerster is Secretary General of the U. N. -- he can now swear in eighty-one different languages.
Betty White has just joined the Brownies.
Shelby Williams is a Rhodes Scholar.
Bess Winakor has just won the craps championship of the U. S.
John Wood is . . . . er. . . ahhhh. . . . John Wood.

CLASS HISTORY

Little did we know when we first tripped innocently into our ivy-colored edifice that we would emerge the mature, perceptive, omniscient intellectuals that we are today. Our existence at the University of Illinois Department of Education Experimental Laboratory High School has been one grand socio-educational whirl.

1954-55 Throughout our Subfreshman year, we alternated between the North Attic and the Mathroom as the locales for our weekly fiascos. (Could Steggie forget George Washington's birthday, Abraham Lincoln's election, or "Oh, dem Godawful ties" parties?) Our intellectual enlightenment consisted of the rousing rivalry of "King's Seat." From these happy romps from desk to desk, we reaped physical as well as mental rewards.

1955-56 As Freshmen, our emotional releases took the form of glorious plays performed in English class. The zenith of that company's career was the authentic portrayal of socially adjusted high school teen-agers conversing canonically of cherry punch. At that tender age, we also set an unrivaled record for weekly social gatherings of interminable duration and doubtful illumination.

1956-57 The tradition of the awkard Sophomore stage was sorely interrupted: we were perfectly well-adjusted. A studious bunch, we were inclined to be excessively agitated by grades. The removal of the "6" proved to be a crushing blow to the majority of us geneii. Many of the girls devoted much of their after-school time to developing their athletic skill on the high-jump bar -- in the purely coincidental presence of the track team.

1957-58 It's upperclassman time! We dispersed from our closely-knit group and disseminated our vast knowledge to all struggling underclassmen. We gracefully descended upon Carnival and Operetta. Parties were of the impulsive variety; studying was at a less frenzied pitch. We had but one aspiration: to be seniors.

1958-59 We are Seniors. We lead -- scholastically and socially. We are supreme. We are totally organized and efficient in our every endeavor. We have surpassed ourselves -- is it possible -- by planning an even more successful carnival than last year. After we have gone, an ignorant, degenerate mass will remain. Farewell, O alma mater. We leave.

FINANCE

Student Council, composed of four students from each class, met on Monday noons again this year. Council was very active, performing services for the school, the community, and the nation. They bought a stereophonic record player for the North Attic and renovated the lounge. A baby-sitting directory was compiled, and a study of activities was made. Council again worked on the Block of Dimes, earning $148. They gave a Care Dance which netted $50 and sponsored a clothing drive in which 300 pounds of clothing was collected.

TERRAPIN

This year, Terrapin, Uni High's sychronized swimming organization, was headed by Judy Shattuck, President; Marge Gaylord, Vice-President; Ann Shipley, Secretary; Marcia Tuckey, Treasurer; and Miss Lindsay, Sponsor. This group of fifty was the largest in the history of the club. With such a large group there was a wide range of ability, and thus Junior Plege was added to Senior Terrapin, Plege, and Junior Terrapin. This new group was fairly proficient in strokes, but needed practice on the various stunts.

On September 20, Terrapin gave a splash party for all the girls interested. The program included races, free swim, a demonstration of synchronized swimming, and a short explanation of the club. Of course there was plenty of food to end the gala affair.

On January 31, Terrapin presented its annual show. This year's show centered around a circus theme. Great plans for the show necessitated a trip to Chicago for two of the members. The show also involved hours of rehearsal and many exhausted girls. However, inspite of the state of stupor of the swimmers, the show was a major success.

Terrapin finished the year by practicing strokes and stunts, and holding tryouts in the spring.

GARGOYLE

GARGOYLE, the school's weekly newspaper, was written and edited by a student staff of thirty. The staff met Thursday noon and Thursday seventh period to produce the paper. In addition to the weekly mimeographed paper, they put out three printed issues. These papers were distributed on Carnival Night, at the Christmas Assembly, and on April Fool's Day.

This year the staff made many improvements in GARGOYLE. The paper, mimeographed rather than dittoed, came out on Friday noon. After the 'town criers' had distributed the papers to the students, the papers remaining were placed in a box on the first floor bulletin board so that everyone would have a chance to pick one up. To improve the quality of the articles, the Thursday afternoon meetings were devoted to training the staff in proper journalistic style. Also, page editors were added to the staff to decrease typographical errors.

UNIQUE

Unique, Uni's literary magazine, was edited by a student staff of about twenty. Students from all classes submitted themes, essays, and poems to the board for judging. Those which the board felt were worthy of publication were compiled into magazines and distributed to the students by the general staff. As in the past, there were four issues.

Several changes were made in Unique this year. Students placed compositions which they wished to submit in a box in the library. For a change, the dittoed issues were legible and pleasant to read.

The magazines were real eye catchers this year, for their covers indeed lived up to the name -- UNIQUE.

SCIENCE CLUB

Science Club, under the direction of the executive committee, underwent several changes aimed at making the club more interesting to more people. Before students could join, they had to turn in project statements and have them approved. Members were required to attend all meetings and lectures unless they had an excused absence from the executive committee. Many students who were in Advanced Problems worked on projects that coincided with their work in the class.

Throughout the two semesters, the club was very active. Lectures from University professors, Bell Telephone movies, and guided tours of university buildings highlighted the year.

The officers were:

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The year started out well for G. A. A. Old Man Weather permitted them to hold their annual Big and Little Sister Picnic outdoors at Hessel Park. There was a large increase in the number of girls who participated in the club's activities -- in fact there was a membership of sixty. Points were given for participation in the intramurals which were held every Monday and Wednesday after school. The big event of the year for G. A. A. was the Star Dance, held in March. This is the only vice-versa event at Uni High. As usual, the dance was a great success -- at least it was the most populated! G. A. A. wound up the year's activities with the spring picnic.

The officers of the G. A. A. this year were:

President . . . . . Caroline Lanham
Vice-President . . . . . Clara Derber

ORCHESIS

LEFT TO RIGHT: Bess Winakor, Ruth Wax, Nini Taub, Ann Shipley, Linda Newmark.

This year a new interest was shown in Orchesis, Uni High's modern dance club. Many new students joined after attending an introductory workshop. Throughout the year the group practiced choreography and dance technique. On February 20, after weeks of planning and practice, the group presented a concert consisting of dances choreographed and danced by the students. At the end of the year, they held a workshop where various types of basic dances were presented.

The officers were:

Nini Taub . . . . . President
Linda Newmark . . . . . Secretary
Bess Winakor . . . . . Treasurer

STRING ENSEMBLES

The String Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Hunter, performed at several school functions this year. They played several carols at the Christmas Concert and the Christmas Assembly. They also gave a combined concert with the Band at the end of the year. Toward the end of the year, they made plans to unite the Band and the String Ensemble into a full orchestra which would be a parmanent arrangement. They also considered having a select orchestra for those students who qualified. This group would meet out of school, and so the participants would not have to be enrolled in the instrumental program at school. Also several small ensembles played at the District Contest and other events.

This year the instrumental program at Uni High was divided into two groups, one of these being the Band. The Band met Monday, Wednesday, and Friday second hour in the North Attic. This group, which specialized in marches, practiced with the String Ensemble during the latter part of the year, and the two groups gave a combined concert near the end of the year. The band also performed in several school assemblies.

MADRIGALS

Madrigals, the select vocal group of Uni High, met three noons a week this year Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday - to rehearse under the direction of Mr. Schuetz. Tryouts were held in September, and Ev Heinrichs, Karen Hinshaw, Bruce Shurts, Willard Spiegelman and Janet Fairbanks became members. In traditional costumes, often accompanied by guitars or recorders, the group also sang at many school and local functions. During the Christmas holidays, Madrigals held a reunion for all past members. In the summer, the group is taking a few days for a field trip.

MIXED CHORUS

Mixed Chorus was the largest musical group at Uni High. Their concerts included the annual Christmas Concert in which THE LITTLEST ANGEL was given as the second half of the program, and numerous school assemblies. Many of the Mixed Chorus members were in the Operetta, and during the first half of the second semester, second hour rehearsal time was turned over to the Operetta Chorus. After the Operetta came the Spring Festival. Everyone had a chance to be in the large chorus composed of high school students from the Champaign-Urbana area. All of the members provided places to stay for the two exchange groups which visited Uni. In return, about forty members were able to be in the Spring Tour Choir.

GIRLS' CHORUS

Girls' Chorus, composed of Subfreshman and Freshman girls who were not in instrumental music, met Monday, Wednesday, and Friday second hour. Directed by Mr. Schuetz, they performed in the Christmas Concert and several school assemblies. They were the determining factor in the selection of the operetta as Mixed Chorus voted for H. M. S. Pinafore by a slim majority. The officers this year were:

OPERETTA

"Patience" or "Bunthorne's Bride" is a satire of the aesthetic transfigurations of "Twenty Lovesick Maidens" who are deeply in love with a poet, Bunthorne. The 35th Dragoon Guards in their "primary colors" are trying in vain to get the affections of the maidens. Patience, the village milkmaid, boasts that she has never loved, but when she discovers that it is selfish not to love, she immediately falls in love with Bunthorne. There comes into the scene one Grosvenor, who is also "aesthetic and poetic." The girls immediately transfer their affections to him, but he loves Patience, and they eventually pair up. Grosvenor really is a "common place young man" and abhors aestheticism, so when he "chooses to discard aestheticism" the rapturous maidens become "Swears and Wells young girls." Thus, they are left with the Dragoon Guards, and Bunthorne is left with Lady Jane, the elderly maiden. However, the Duke at length determines a bride, Jane, and Bunthorne is left with a "tulip or a lily."

Months of preparation went into the production of "Patience." Rehearsals were first held in the North Attic. The cast practiced fifth hour, seventh hour, after school, and Saturday. The two choruses sang together second hour while they worked on individual parts after school. In the beginning of March the entire production moved over to Greg Hall where extensive rehearsal began. While the choruses and cast were perfecting the operetta many committees were working behind the scenes. The hard work paid off on April 3 and 4 when "Patience" was presented in the Greg Hall auditorium. It was a great success!

CROSS COUNTRY

The Uni High cross-country team had a successful season this year. The Buckeyes won one dual meet, lost three dual meets, and placed second in a triangular meet.

Major-letter winners were:

Andy von Foerster
Mike Kirtley
Steve Hall

Minor-letter winner was:

John Chapman

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Uni got its season off on the right foot this year by beating Homer in the first game, 51-35. However, the Buckeyes were able to win only one more game all year -- over St. Joe, 54-53. Uni played some pretty good basketball throughout the year but seemed to have tough luck in the close ones. The Buckeyes lost three games to Ogden and St. Joe by a total of seven points.

CENTER: Coach Roy Keller and Manager Kelly Mickey.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Our Junior Varsity had a very respectable seven and nine record this year. Coach Keller's boys came through consistently when the chips were down, and at one point won three consecutive games by a total of four points. The starting lineup was Jim Gardner and John Kirby as the forwards, John Chapman as center, and Charles Derber and Steve Hall as the guards. Minor letters were awarded to Gardner, Kirby, Chapman, Derber, Hall, Steve Kellogg, and George Frampton. All of these boys gained experience which will be valuable to them on the Varsity next year.

SUB-FROSH TEAM

Our sub freshman-freshman team didn't win any games this year, but the boys will be looking forward to better things on the Junior Varsity team next year. Coach Bob Schmidt's starting lineup included Doug Brown, Dave Jordan, Lee Drickamer, John Barker, and Bastian Kruidenier.

CHEERLEADERS

Uni High had eight enthusiastic cheerleaders this year. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Wolfe, the girls learned new cheers and brought life into the old ones. For variety they used pom poms in several cheers, and Dave Trebilcock and his bongos provided background for another. Several cheerleaders turned acrobatic, doing splits and flips. The uniforms were improved by replacing the megaphones with "U" 's.

As in past years, the cheerleaders provided transportation to the away games for the student body. Although drivers were scarce and the weather was often poor, there were always loyal fans in the stands. Led by the cheerleaders, they gave the team great encouragement.

U-CLUB

U-Club was active throughout the year. In their weekly meetings the boys saw many films on athletics. They sponsored their annual dance on January 10. The highlight of the dance was the welcoming of four newly-initiated members in the club -- Steve Hall, Dave Williams, Jim Gardner, and Phil Ross.

SEPTEMBER

3. Is the summer really over?

5. Due to the Orientation Assembly, all the new students know exactly what they're doing--especially running away from that personified Gargoyle. Tonight's Howdy Hop left Charlie Derber a bit confused. He can't understand why he didn't win the mixer as Clara always did--what's the matter with Zorro inhabiting Third Street, anyway?

6. We are happy to announce that Miss Lindsay is still with us. Explanation: she was heard saying "if it rains again for the G. A. A. picnic, I'll die."

8. Tut, tut, teachers, you shouldn't have pooped out so soon--but thanks a lot for the afternoon off even if you do call it a teachers' meeting.

9-10. Creativity rides again. Orchesis is on the move starting with a two-day workshop.

15-16. Disregarding all puns, the fall drama production, two Japanese Noh plays, should prove interesting; so thought those many people who tried out.

19. Uni High students took to the woods (actually Kickapoo) again today. This time it really was a biology field trip.

20. Blub, i.e. the very successful Terrapin Splash Party.

23. Oh, those lucky eight who have to cope with Uni High's school spirit--congratulations, cheerleaders!

27. Uni High sent four delegates plus Miss Leppert to a DASC leader

Training workshop in Monticello. We hope to get our money's worth. Organization? Music? Cookies? Never! Yep -- another all-school party sponsored by the seniors.

OCTOBER

2. Who said this year wasn't a tradition breaker? We just won a cross-country meet for the first time in two years.

3. Romin' Rome, penny throwing, roller skating queens, a fashion show of sheets -- you guessed it, the Carnival Assembly.

4. On this date, in the year of Our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-Eight, three Meritorious Lads, Warren Ford Doolittle III, Joseph B. Miles, and Thomas Thornton Read, brought Great Honor upon this Worthy Institution in becoming National Merit Semi-Finalists.

8. The Sophomore girls wore dresses to school.

10-17. Ah, that glorious period of bedlam -- Carnival Week.

18. The great night itself. Suffice it to say that this year's Carnival was the biggest and best ever.

NOVEMBER

1. The decorations blended so nicely with the atmosphere of the Tri High Dance.

2. On this historic day two great battles raged: at the polls between the G.O.P.'s and the Demo's; on the gridiron, that between the students and faculty of Uni High. Some say the best won both.

7-8. As we pull the last strands of wysteria from our hair, we can objectively evaluate the plays, KANTAN and SOTABA KOMACHI. Yes, I'm sure we'll all agree they were an interesting experiment in Japanese theater.

14. Though they are no longer the yellow peril, reliable sources claim they saw yellow spots after taking their progress reports home.

26-28. O agony! O ecstasy! We have finally reached the peaceful isle of vacation in the troubled seas of school work. Let us all give thanks.

DECEMBER

6. The Uni High delegation, inspired by our own little giant, Tony Carter, made some powerful proposals at the Uni-hosted YCCI meeting today. It seems they all figured the way to find out "What the U. S. Needs to Know About the U.S.S.R." is to go there. Bon Voyage, I say.

7. To quote from a Calendar of Olden Days: "Christmas Concert. It went off quite well." How applicable it is to this year's play -- halos et al.

13. It is hoped that the absence of basketball results herein will not be construed as a lack of interest, but simply a matter of discretion.

19. Having consulted Emily Post, the faculty gave a party. Their invitation to the students read, "The faculty requests the honor of your presence . . . Wear you Sunday best." Having consulted tradition, the students distributed witty and appropriate gifties. And Mr. Schuetz dropped his bomb. Congratulations, you aesthetic members of the PATIENCE cast.

20. Ev Heinrichs says, "The Christmas Dance was lousy on account of I was in Florida." But not everyone agrees with Ev and her mother.

22. Mops, brooms, and bathroom supplies -- not that the Physical Plant misses them (They just wonder where that stuff's all gone) . . . but we know: Operetta Rehash.

25. Happy Birthday.

JANUARY

1. Let's skip this day-after, heh?

5. Democracy in action: Student Council town meeting plus the reopening of the new and different lounge.

10. The ultimate educational experience in our high school careers -- College Boards. Fortunately the U-Club Dance allowed us to recuperate.

21. Yes, siree, kiddies, I'll always remember that winter of '59. Why -- the ice and the cold -- well the power was out for days . . .

26-27. Semester Exams. What's that Marcia Tuckey's saying? Whatever we do today decides our grades, and our grades decide what college we're going to get into, and what college we get into decides our future. Isn't that neat! And what's that big smile on her face?

29. A second very successful CARE Dance -- over $50 in supplies to overseas.

31. Uni High now has its own replacement for Barnum and Bailey -- not under the Big Top, but underwater. On a circus theme, the Terrapin Show.

FEBRUARY

2. How happy are we to return to learning!

7. Wow! Wow! Tri High rolling up the score. $377.08 (Uni High total -- $148.75) for the March of Dimes.

11. Today all students were asked by ye olde P.T.A. to offer suggestions concerning improvement of the "social climate" with specific reference to the "opportunities." We're glad to have a group which takes such a keen interest in our problems.

13. No doubt Wyrd (thank you, Mrs. Riva) decided progress reports should come out on this Friday. But we have grand compensation: Uni beat St. Joe tonight -- 55-54!

17. Social studies aptitude test given today. Well, Miss Leppert, now you know.

21. A true artistic triumph -- slinkies, visible audience and all -- Nini Taub's last Orchesis Concert.

26. Uni High's well-known and oft-requested, tremendous commercial success performs once again those old favorites, "Sweet Georgia Brown," "Don't Fence Me In," and "Aba Dabba Dabba." Since they need no publicity (no other reason naturally), we will mention no names.

27. The Frosh finally came through and sponsored a perfectly smeshing all-school pahhhty.

28. Uni High closed its basketball season at Mahomet. Such a happy and over-awing feeling to see a gym smaller than the good ol' temporary one just a few steps from school (again wouldn't like to mention any names).

MARCH

4. The Regional Tournament calls on dear old Uni: we face Champaign. Need we say more.

7. Tonight we attended the most worthwhile social event of the U of I season -- you guessed it -- the Star Dance. My goodness, there were a lot of people there amongst the atmosphere.

11. Right now the thing to do seems to be to write about the Operetta. Allons! Mr. Schuetz tears his hair; the chorus plods aesthetically on -- and who knows what the cast does?

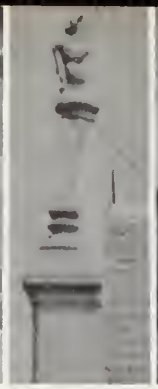
13. Zeus (somebody better -- and he's appropriate after their study of THE ODESSEY) pity Chicago as the Frosh (all five billion of the monsters) descend therein. Perhaps the fine milk train will calm them down. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Miss Leppert rounds up those fascinating, time-consuming, and totally enjoyable historical essays.

14. But those fine fellows in Princeton are not squelched yet: they are back to brainwash once again. This all is a subtle way of saying COLLEGE BOARDS!

APRIL

3-4. With our performance of PATIENCE tonight, comes our last opportunity to wear misfitted costumes, to lose our voices, and to have mustaches fall off. And by George -- we took that opportunity! Shall we quote? "I have committed my last act of ill-nature, and henceforth I'm a changed character."

11. How embarassing not to be able to make a derogatory comment about the Spring Fling. But then, of course, we all know that the sophomores are unmarred in their excellence; thus we can easily comprehend the perfection of the dance.



24. The time has come for those rash Uni Highers to make good their plans at the Y.C.C.I. meeting. Good Luck.

30. As the faculty calendar gleefully exclaims, as the student calendar forebodingly warns, and as the office calendar authoritatively confirms -- PROGRESS REPORTS.

MAY

8-9. My deah, you projected (from the diaphragm?) so well. I mean, I mean the whole play was absolutely beautiful.

22. Bountiful fresh air, moldy old food, healthful exercise, and a true educational spirit provided a thoroughly joyous Senior Skip Day.

23. That savage, blood-crusted ax slashed another junior class to bits during Class Night proceedings. The Class of '59 is now above it all, and the Class '60 is beginning already to form, from the gore, a new senior class.

31. Baccalaureate and all it implies.

JUNE

1-2. Exams -- without grades dependent thereon; exams -- without a college record dependent thereon; exams without pressure. Final exams. Freedom.

5. The ultimate ceremony. And, with diploma in hand, we begin.

6. A fantasy of swirling skirts and a dark night, such was our last Prom.
